Ways to succeed at saving

Give yourself the best chance to afford the retirement of your dreams by making the most of your retirement plan.

Start as soon as you can

Give your money a lot of time to grow and benefit from compounding, the snowball effect that happens when you continually reinvest earnings.

Look at how much you're saving

Consider saving at least 12% to 15% for retirement. If you can't save that much right now, make a small change and sign up for automatic annual increases. Just tell us how much to increase your savings and when, and we'll take care of it for you.

Sprint to the finish

If you're getting close to retirement, you may need to kick your savings into high gear. One way to do that, if you're age 50 or older, is to make catch-up contributions.*

*In 2020, the normal limit you can save in your employer's retirement plan is $19,500. However, catch-up contributions allow those age 50 or older to save up to $6,500 more in 2020.

Whenever you invest, there's a chance you could lose the money.
